Laura Briggs
Chair, Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies
University of Massachusetts, Amherst

Making Race, Making Sex:
Perspectives on Torture

Is an Orientalized Arab masculinity being produced in the context of the politics of torture, specifically its intense sexualization? Can we speak of a science of torture in the U.S. in anthropology, psychology, and biomedicine? Drawing on tools from the study of gender and race in science, this talk will use them to think about the torture of immigrant men in the U.S. and Europe targeted as "terrorists."

Monday, November 7, 2011 at 4:30pm
83 College Street, Mount Holyoke College
www.fivecolleges.edu/sites/fcwsrce or tele 413 • 538 • 2275
Directions & parking information:
http://www.fivecolleges.edu/sites/fcwsrce/directions_parking/